Customer Reviews

"Just the monthly gardening calendar . . . is worth the price of the book. Highly recommended." --
Boyce Thompson Arboretum, Kim Stone, Horticultural Specialist

"When some of my family needed to go to low salt, and low fat foods almost 2 decades ago, we quickly discovered that taking the typical salt and fats from customary cooking, resulted in no flavor! I turned to edible herbs and flowers to put aroma and flavor back in my cooking and, going further, continued experimenting with gardening with plants that not only tasted great, but looked good in the garden. Desert gardeners may think themselves limited to plants that may do well, but are highly toxic. Not so. With edible landscaping you can have it all. Good Looks, Good Scents, and Good Eats!" --Catherine, The Herb Lady, Crowley

This book is very good. She has multiple uses and even recipes. She really knows her plants. I like the unique recipes, too.

This is a good book for someone just moving into the desert environment or someone who lives there and is beginning to get interested in edible landscape. Thoughtful and personal. A comfortable, non challenging introduction. Those who are interested in food gardens that can be great for front yards may be more interested in The Beautiful Food Garden: Creative Landscaping With Vegetables, Herbs, Fruits & Flowers. Those who need more reason to do it in the first place should read Food Not Lawns: How to Turn Your Yard into a Garden And Your Neighborhood into a Community

Being a transplant from lush New England to the dry Southwest desert, I have struggled for years to maintain a successful garden. The Herb Lady covers everything in this essential and informative book. With nearly 30 pages of recipes I can enjoy my bounty in unique and flavorful new ways. Many thanks to The Herb Lady.
