Customer Reviews

Daniela Gobetti is co-founder and principal of Proxima-Intercultural, which offers consulting services on the internationalization of education and produces e-based serious games for foreign-language teaching. She is the author of Practice Makes Perfect: Italian Vocabulary.

This is a good compilation but lacks a systematic recycling of previously taught material.

Very helpful

I love all the Practice Makes Perfect Italian series and recommend them regularly. The books overlap which is good for review with students.

This latest addition to the family of Practice Makes Perfect books is, like the others, well-organized and potentially useful to students of Italian. However it is marred by many simple errors, particularly errors of gender (eg'la' when it should be 'il'). Some careful editing would make this a much more useable book. As it is, for a teacher like myself, it is quite frustrating to feel one has to correct the inaccuracies before directing students to the relevant pages.

product exactly as described and shipped in a timely manner.

Very practical and well organized. Good tips included also.

Laid out in a logical fashion. Each exercise builds on the preceding. I heartily recommend it to one and all!

This book is a good book for building your Italian vocabulary. I only wish it had games (crosswords, for example) that would relieve some of the boredom of learning a new language.
