Vivien Prideaux specializes in decorative and domestic textiles made from natural fabrics and threads and dyed with fiber-reactive, indigo, and cochineal dyes. Her work has been commissioned, held, and exhibited all over the British Isles, in Japan, and in New Zealand. She is a member of the 62 Group of Textile Artists and a life member of the Embroiderers' Guild.

I love this book pretty informative

I expected something with practical "how to's" based on previous reviews. although the book is beautiful it was too advanced for beginner at-home dying.

I think that this book will be a great resource to a future project.

very informative

Great

The author has list several ways to do the initial set up for dyeing and very clearly step by step listed the props and cons of different method.

Great book full of fantastic images and how-to instructions.

Excellent book !!
