A former school teacher and librarian, Judy Peterson found her niche in life as a woodworker. She bought her first saw in 1990 and within the first six months was cutting and creating her own designs. She does business as Fan Tanimals, selling wood-crafted puzzles at art and craft shows around the country . A winner of many prizes, Judy was featured in the December 1997 issue of Wisconsin Trails. She has been published in Scroll Saw Workshop magazine. She teaches scroll sawing at Woodcraft in Madison, Wisconsin. Dave Peterson is a Senior Systems Analyst for a small mail order company and provides business support for Fan Tanimals. Judy and Dave can be reached via e-mail at FanTamdsp@aol.com

I have really enjoyed doing the projects out of this book. Most if not all of the designs make excellent gifts. One other thing I have found about this person's designs vs. others is that they don't seem to go out of style as a toy. Some other scrolling designs for children's puzzles seem to either be kind of old or the toy becomes forgotten. These designs and puzzles seem to make wonderful gifts (which I have done) that can last for years. I also recommend following the authors use of different woods for different designs. I made the polar bear out of aspen as the book suggested and it really did fit well with a white bear. I have not attempted to finish it for fear of a color change due to a finish. I now also use Tung Oil to finish ALL of my scrolling projects as the author. It really does bring out the color of the wood. Great book, can't say enough about it.

great informative book

I'm new to scroll saw work and I've been limited to making small name plates for my kids lockers and for my wife and friends desks. I purchased this book because it looked like a neat way to get into something different with the scroll saw. The information provided in the book is very helpful and easy to read. The projects in the book are just fun. Animal profiles and puzzle shapes are little more forgiving than some of the letters I had to make for name plates. I was able to just sit down and relax as I cut the pieces out. Now my kids are helping stain and finish the projects. I recommend the title completely.

Great book, now their everywhere

This order was a gift for my brother-in-law who is a great woodworker. He was very pleased with the gift.

nice book

thanks

Amazing detailed book! The authors put a lot of thought into this book. The patterns are very easy to photocopy.
