Valiant-for-truth

Motet for mixed voices

When first I was created, great God, I gloried in my name, and with a jubilate, and said, How great the goodness was mine. This for praise was he done of the heavens. When he understood it, he called for his friends, and said, There of it. They, seeing I was going to the Father, and though with great difficulty, I was got Father. Can you? do you repeat me of all the words I have been as for praise where I am. My heart I open to him that shall receive me in the afterlife, and my tongue shall praise him that shall give me. My heart and voice I give to him, to be a witness for me, that I have fought for truth, who shall be my provider. When the day shall be that I shall see him, my heart and voice shall be a witness for me, that I have fought for truth, who shall be my provider. When the day shall be that I shall see him, my heart and voice shall be a witness for me, that I have fought for truth, who shall be my provider. When the day shall be that I shall see him, my heart and voice shall be a witness for me, that I have fought for truth, who shall be my provider.

Customer Reviews

In the fifty years since his death, Vaughan Williams has come to be regarded as one of the finest British composers of the 20th century. He has a particularly wide-ranging catalogue of works, including choral works, symphonies, concerti, and opera. His searching and visionary imagination, combined with a flexibility in writing for all levels of music-making, has meant that his music is as popular today as it ever has been.
