Four Blood Moons: Something Is About To Change

Synopsis

“There will be signs in the sun, in the moon, and in the stars . . . Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because your redemption draws near.” Luke 21:25a, 28 It is rare that Scripture, science, and history align with each other, yet the last three series of Four Blood Moons have done exactly that. Are these the “signs” that God refers to in His Word? If they are, what do they mean? What is their prophetic significance? In this riveting audio book, Pastor John Hagee explores the supernatural connection of certain celestial events to biblical prophecy; and to the future of God’s chosen people and to the nations of the world. Just as in biblical times, God is controlling the sun, the moon, and the stars to send our generation a signal that something big is about to happen. The question is: Are we watching and listening for His message?

Throughout history, seven back-to-back, blood-red moons have fallen on the first day of Passover. Three of these occurrences were connected to some of the most significant days in Jewish history: 1492 (the final year of the Spanish Inquisition), 1948 (statehood for Israel and the War of Independence) and 1967 (the Six-Day War). The eighth occurrence of back-to-back blood moons will be during the sabbatical year 2014 2015. There are no solar or lunar accidents; every heavenly body is controlled by the unseen hand of God to send signals to humanity of coming events. In this riveting book, Hagee explores what these upcoming blood moons mean, and why it’s critical Christians understand what these signs mean both for Israel and the world. Joel 2 and Acts 2 both state: "And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood and fire and pillars of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness [eclipse] and the moon into blood [eclipse] before the great and terrible day of the Lord comes." --This text refers to the Paperback edition.

John Hagee is the author of several New York Times best-sellers, including Jerusalem Countdown, which has sold over one million copies. He is the founder and senior pastor of Cornerstone Church in San Antonio, Texas, a nondenominational evangelical church with more than 20,000 active members. He is also the founder and president of John Hagee Ministries, which telecasts his radio and television teachings throughout America and in 249 nations worldwide. Hagee is the founder and national chairman of Christians United for Israel.

While I haven't been able to confirm Hagee's facts, this book has an interesting premise. I had not heard of the upcoming four blood moons and their significance to the nation of Israel. Essentially, the premise is that when there have been four blood moons that corresponded to significant Jewish holiday and with a full eclipse of the moon somewhere within the sequence of the blood moons, there has been some event of great significance to Israel that has occurred. This particular combination of events is apparently quite rare. This is not a discovery of Hagee, but rather comes from a fellow named Blitz, who noticed the relationships. Hagee simply put the information into a book. Most of the book is taken up with a presentation of the premillennialist end times eschatology as popularized by Hal Lindsey and more recently by Tim LaHay. Most of the information on the four blood moons is toward the end of the book. I would have also preferred to see more detail on the four blood moons as this part of the book seems rather thin to me. One part I enjoyed was a recounting of some of the miraculous events that occurred during the Six Days war, which was one of the events that occurred during one of the blood moon sequences. If you are already familiar with "Lindseyism", you can scan through most of the book pretty quickly. Then you can get to the blood moon information quickly. I would have liked more information on the blood moons, since that was the part that was new to me. There is information on the internet, but most of it is questionable. Hagee and Blitz based a lot of their information on a NASA website, which appears to have now been taken down. The book was intriguing, but in the end left me unsatisfied.

I was somewhat disappointed with this book by Hagee. The majority of the book is not really spent discussing the four blood moons, but rather on a summation of end-time events and what is coming. Hagee would point out that you need that background to understand the significance of the four blood moons. While I understand his point, I would say only 35% of the book is spent on the four blood moons and that was my reason for buying the book. So, for me, the book was interesting and enjoyable when it talked about the four blood moons and great in that it points out another aspect of God's ultimate majesty, control, and awesomeness, but I could only rate it three stars as most of the book was an end time summary which I had already read in other books. So, it was enjoyable and disappointing all at the same time.

Not a huge fan of Hagee anyway, but am curious about the subject. He spends 90% of the book explaining Biblical history, which some will appreciate and perhaps need, but very little actual substance on the blood moons for 2014-2015 and typical to Hagee, he puts way too much emphasis on America when God's focus is always Israel. At one place in the book he points out past enemies of Israel who do her harm, and God punishes, saying all these nations has eagles as part of their national symbols and evil empires, but fails to acknowledge that America uses the eagle as well and if the prophecies he quotes held true for those other nations, then they will hold true for America as well. I could cite other places I feel he isolates bits of scripture or decides on context to fit his point, but that is all typical Hagee. For some who may appreciate the general overview of some of the Biblical history he pulls from, perhaps useful, but don't pay full price and probably not your best source.

I had a very difficult time tracking with his flow of thought. It seemed like some things were OK, but there was so much bouncing back and forth between verses in scattered places in the Bible (in the later chapters) that it was difficult to keep track of why all the bouncing without any contextual analysis.

My pastor had taught a year long series on the Blood Moons prophecy but I wasn't there at the time so I picked up this book. It's light reading but not as in depth as Blood Moons by Mark Blitz. John Hagee's book mentions Mark Blitz as he discovered this initially, I confirmed it with my pastor and bought the Blitz book. John Hagee's book is not bad, but I preferred the more technical aspects and explanation provided in the other book as it shows the correlation between the Blood Moons and the Judaic Spring and Fall Feasts celebrated since Biblical times.

The book was disappointing. If you have read any other biblical prophecy books, it added very little to what has already been written many times including the Bible itself. I think something is going to occur but to put that something into a time frame is as ludicrous as predicting when the Lord will come again. As Jesus said, only the Father knows, when asked by his followers. Just let it happen, the Lord is in charge.

I found this book to be very interesting and informative and enjoyed reading it. The key scriptures to remember while reading this book are Matthew 24:36 and Mark 13:32 which state "But concerning that day or that hour, no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father. This book is not predicting that the end of times will take place in 2015. It is telling us to open our eyes and start paying attention to the events that are happening around us and always be prepared.
