Dialect, Culture, And Society In Eastern Arabia: Glossary (Handbook Of Oriental Studies/Handbuch Der Orientalistik) (Handbook Of Oriental Studies: Section 1; The Near And Middle East)

Synopsis

Dialect, Culture, and Society in Eastern Arabia is a three-volume study of the Arabic dialects spoken in Bahrain by its older generation, and of the socio-cultural factors which produced them. The material on which the study is based consists of hundreds of hours of transcribed conversations gathered in the mid-1970s. All major social variables are covered in the speaker sample. Volume I, Glossary, lists all the words, with extensive contextual exemplification, which occur in the complete set of texts. Volume II will present these complete texts, and an annotated and translated selection, together with an introduction on the origins of the eastern Arabian vocabulary, and cross references to previous works on the dialects of the area and to the Classical lexica. Volume III is a detailed study of the phonology, morphology and syntax of the dialects.

Clive D. Holes, Ph.D. (1981) in Linguistics, University of Cambridge, is Khalid bin Abdullah al-Sa'ud Professor for the Study of the Contemporary Arab World at the University of Oxford. He has published widely on the Arabic language and its dialects.

"Dialect, Culture and Society in Eastern Arabia" by "Clive Holes", (3 vols.), c. 1999-2000, Brill Pub. The same title is used atop all three volumes. Vol. 1: Glossary. Vol. II: Ethnographic Texts. Vol. III: Dialect Description. (Each volume was originally priced between $175 - $450); so use caution in determining which volume you are buying.) [From publisher's comments]: "The primary objective of (these volumes) is to give a detailed description of the pre-oil era of Arabic dialects and culture of the island state of Bahrain, as spoken by uneducated Bahrainis aged forty or over in the mid-1970s." The linguistic descriptions contain sectarian views (Bahraini Sunnis & Bahraini Shia) and women. Some of the topics discussed include marriage customs, family lives, traditional beliefs and practices, popular culture, children's games, agriculture, fishing - just to name a few. Regarding Vol. 1 (Glossary) the "words" are not arranged by how one would normally expect: Adam, Anglo, appendix, apple.... The "words" are listed by "consonants" without vowels: such as: FTT (fatat: crumbs); FTH (fatah : open), FTKH (fatxa : toe-ring), FTSH (fattas : inspect; fattasa: fortune-teller), FTQ (ftag : hernia).... as you can see from the aforementioned examples, the problem is that even the consonants are not in "alpha" order! Fortunately, behind each actual Arabic word (as it is spoken - there is no actual Arabic script!) an English transliteration is provided. Besides single words, sometimes, entire phrases are provided in both languages.
